

NICOLAS-JAY ESTATE 2016 PINOT NOIR, WILLAMETTE VALLEY 'LIBRARY RELEASE'

Harvest

2016 started with another early bud break followed by a warm Spring. Low fruit set due to late Spring rains made for a balanced crop and lower yields than we'd seen in the past few years. Luckily, as Summer set in, moderate temperatures allowed the grapes to ripen steadily. As the temperature increased in the first few days of the month, we set our first pick date for September 5th and worked until the 20th to bring the fruit in. Even though our first pick was 15 days before our last, the vast majority of our vineyards were picked during an intense 5-day window. The 2016 wines show an incredible density and concentration, with brilliant red and black fruit and impressive tannins. These wines are beautiful up front but have the weight and tension to age well for the next 15+ years.

Current Winemaker Tasting Note

Dark, rich color with slight brick edges. Explodes from the glass with ripe pomegranate, warm blackberry cobbler, leather and sandalwood aromas. Tannins immediately show a lovely sweetness and creaminess to them with a mid-palate of spicecake, cassis and berry liquor and a long, medium-bodied finish. This wine will continue to unfold over the next 2-3 years.
